
Maddin, Hauser, Roth & Heller Open for Business - Coronavirus Update

Like you, we have been monitoring the rapidly changing Coronavirus pandemic situation, day-by-day, hour-by-hour and minute-by-minute. The health and safety of our employees, clients, friends and visitors is our firm's paramount concern. That is why, consistent with guidance from local, state, and federal authorities, effective today through Friday March 27, 2020, our Southfield, Michigan based professionals are working remotely. We have prepared for, tested and implemented a remote work plan for all of our attorneys, paralegals and support staff. Our remote work plan fully maintains our robust privacy and cybersecurity policies. We are confident that when you email, call or text message your Maddin Hauser attorney, you will seamlessly connect with them, and you will notice little, if any disruption to our usual service level. We are and expect to remain open for business, even if our front door is temporarily closed.

Maddin Hauser has long been an active community leader, and we are leading now. That is why we are fully committed to doing our part to limit the spread of the Coronavirus. Just as importantly, we are committed to continuing to deliver timely, highest-quality legal advice and counsel. Our dedicated attorneys are ready if and when you need us to help navigate the issues you are and will soon be confronting as a result of the Coronavirus pandemic.

This is a challenging and constantly changing situation for all of us. We wish you well during this time. And if there is any way that we can help you weather the storm, please don't hesitate to contact your Maddin Hauser lawyer.

With all of us working together, we will get through this together!

Thank you,

MADDIN, HAUSER, ROTH & HELLER
